Officials of the National War Services Ministry reveal that Canada's first war service lottery will be made early next month to determine the men to be called up for the army in August. All single men between 21 and 80 years of age, who are now subject to military service, will be assigned numbers, corresponding to numbers on slips of paper at administrative division headquarters. These latter numbers will be drawn from a pool, and the order in which they come out will determine the order in which the various individuals will report for duty.

GALA DAY FOR BLAIRMORE

Should the prayers of the bulk of our citizens for good weather be answered favorably, Blaimore will be enfeared on one of the biggest days in its history on Dominion Day, July 1st.

The Blaimore Community Sports Association members have been busy formulating plans for the day's programme, which will start out with a grand parade of everything from a day-old to a 90-year-old of men, women and children, plus cars of any year since 1909, bicycles and highly decorated floats and pets (not girls). Only the floats are to be decorated, other people to wear possibly paint or powder.

The parade will start promptly at 1.30, and head for the Blaimore Stadium, where the usual guns of speeches will set 'er off. It will be led by a band.

Features of the programme will be a 2 1/2-mile junior marathon for the Billy Royle cup, mile junior bicycle race for the Trono cup, senior baseball and football tournaments, quoits and horseshoe and rolling pin pitching.

A big dance in the Columbus hall at night will help to finish things off. Sam McDowell is the secretary, and all entries must be made through him.

People of The Pass, keep this date open and help make it the biggest ever. Don't give Hitler to think that he is curtailing everything in the free countries. You will be admitted by tag, not sold compulsory; and you will not be placed against a wall for a firing squad if you yell your head off for your favorites.

The Canadian Army overseas has moved to cut down lightning courtships between Canadian soldiers and British girls, and at the same time reduce the proportion of unhappy marriages.

Japanese raids on Dutch Harbor in Alaska and Midway Island were appraised in Washington as attacks designed to ward off the westward push of increasing United States military power.

His Excellency the Most Rev. Francis P. Carroll, bishop of Calgary, visited Blaimore on Sunday last and conferred the Sacrament of Confirmation upon a class of fifty boys and girls. Following the ceremony he renewed acquaintances with members of St. Anne's congregation, and at night proceeded by train to Nelson, B.C.

Curtailment of automobiles, tires and gasoline has increased the number of bicycles in use in the United States by more than a million since 1940. One would believe that if he visited Michel-Natal, 22 miles west of Blaimore, where about 80 per cent of the people—men, women and children—travel on bikes. On a school day, there are upwards of 200 bicycles around the school grounds, while most of the workers travel by bike while their wives are equally equipped to so travel. The most expensive imposition is the occasional call for free air.

C.P.R. Shopmen Give Gun For Freedom

Canada's mounting share in the fight against the Axis was emphasized by Brigadier P. M. W. Harvey, V.C., Officer Commanding Military District 12, when on Saturday afternoon, May 23rd, he received the 100th naval gun produced at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Ogden Shops, at Calgary, as a gift from the munitions workers there to the nation.

Although rate of production at Ogden has not been revealed by authorities, the 100th piece of war ordnance came off the assembly line there some time ago. Paying all shop costs and cost of material on this particular gun, the employees presented it to the speakers in a simple but impressive ceremony marking, as one of the speakers said, a fine spirit of national and industrial solidarity.

The gun itself is an all-purpose naval weapon, designed for use against submarines and surface craft, as well as sky raiders, throwing a shell of approximately 12 pounds from its long barrel.

In receiving the gun from R. Alderman, representative of the shopmen, Brigadier Harvey represented Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply for Canada. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company was represented by W. A. Mather, vice-president of Western Lines, who officially received from the employees a cheque for shop costs on the gun, and by H. B. Bowen, Chief of Motive Power, from Montreal. J. L. Gubbins, works manager, acted as chairman.

The Guard of Honor was made up of war veterans among the shopmen under Capt. McLennan.

Pictures show Brigadier Harvey inspecting the Guard of Honor, the gun and a glimpse of the actual presentation ceremony.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Gilbert Wright, John McKay and W. R. McIntosh have been called up for military service.

Another all-day rain fell here on Thursday.

Archie Swart is confined to his home through illness, we are sorry to say.

News was received from Chilliwack, B.C., last week, telling of the death of William Headch. Many old acquaintances will regret to learn of his passing.

The senior room of the Cowley school entertained at the school on Wednesday afternoon. Entertainment took the form of a quiz, proving to be quite exciting. An appetizing luncheon was served, followed by ice cream and soft drinks.

Considerable excitement was aroused on Wednesday afternoon when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kasikoff, in the west end of town, caught fire. The fire was caused from an overheated stovepipe. The two young women who were in the house at the time noticed the flames and got help in time to put the fire out before much damage was done.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's church here on Saturday morning, when Miss Jennie Yagos became the wife of Mr. Joseph Luini. Father Leaver officiated. The bride was charming in a floor-length dress of white satin and the conventional bridal veil. She carried a pink bouquet of roses, carnations and sweet peas. Miss Julia Thibart was bridesmaid, and wore a floor-length blue sheer dress and carried a bouquet of snapdragons. The groom was supported by Mr. Mike Yagos, brother of the bride. Following the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride for the reception.

William "Bill" Reid, 87, died in the Old Man's Home at Macleod on Monday. He was a veteran of the North-West Rebellion and an old-time mountie policeman, and resided in Pincher Creek for quite a number of years.

LOCAL MAN HEADS ELKS

At the annual convention of the Alberta Elks Association in Calgary on Tuesday, R. C. Old, of Blaimore was elected president. W. Dutil, of Coleman, was elected district deputy for the Macleod-Coleman district. Both are enthusiastic workers for the order.

Place of the meeting next year will be left to the executive to select.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

The local Red Cross campaign is progressing favorably and will soon be completed with considerably more than our quota in hand.

The high water and recent flood conditions interfered a great deal with the work.

Last week end Pincher Creek experienced its worst flood since 1908, when bridges, trees, livestock and everything on the creek's banks went down the stream.

Samuel Nicholson, Blaimore old timer, passed away in Calgary on Saturday aged 78 years. He was born in Cumberland, England, and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Grace, of Everett, Washington. The remains were brought to Blaimore for burial, which took place following service conducted at the Crown's Nest Funeral Home by Rev. J. R. Hague. The remains are laid to rest in the Blaimore cemetery.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. C. Mackenzie and sons Douglas and David, of Portland, Oregon, are visiting with Mrs. Mackenzie's parents here, Mr. and Mrs. B. Carter.

Miss Betty Haggerty, of Trail, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. B. Pryde. Private C. Carter, of the Active Army at Calgary, spent a brief visit with his wife and family here.

Chief Petty Officer George Fry returned east after spending a brief holiday with his wife and family here.

Ruth Terran, of Drumheller, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Jones, here.

Mrs. H. McNeill (nee Helen Seaman), of Lethbridge, is visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. J. Seaman.

S. Siza is a patient in the Bellevue hospital.

Corp. Eddie Seaman and Mrs. Seaman (nee I. MacDonald), have returned to Edmonton.

Pte E. Baudeau, of Camrose, spent a brief visit with his wife and family here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Baila and daughters Jennifer and Miriam, of Aberdeen, Wash., paid a brief visit here with Mr. and Mrs. J. Luini. Mrs. Baila and Mrs. Luini are sisters.

The marriage of Joe Luini, second son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Luini, to Miss Janney Yagos, of Cowley, took place at Cowley on June 6th.

Secretary-Treasurer Grant recently compiled a report on the school district finances. Some of the interesting highlights of the report include a bank balance at the end of 1941 of $3,933.79, as compared with $6,730.02 at the end of 1940. The total receipts were $5,372.52, and expenditures for 1941 amounted to $9,473.96, which was $5,437.79 less than 1940. Taxes not yet collected amount to $9,040.52. The rate of taxation for 1941 was 30 mills. W. H. Himmam, of Pincher Creek, is the official trustee.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION PROPOSE GAME SANCTUARY

Drumheller's Fish and Game Association has done much for nature-lovers and hunters in the past, and they will be doing a service to the entire community if their plans for establishing a game sanctuary in the Red Deer River Valley can be brought to fulfillment.

Wild life in the district will be increased this year, when the Game Association releases 500 ring-necked pheasants, and a game sanctuary would attract many other birds. Government authorities are now being contacted with a view to establishing the sanctuary between the Rosedale bridge and the Stauffer bridge.

Game sanctuaries are an asset to a city and provide educational and amusement facilities for both adult and child population. Calgary has found that the Ingwood Sanctuary has not only increased the variety and number of wild birds in that district, but has formed a popular park which large numbers of citizens visit every week-end.

A service will be provided in quite another way if the plan is carried out as it will close the area to irresponsible youngsters with "28" rifles. In the past, families have picnicked on the river-bank east of the city and have made numerous complaints of youths with small calibre rifles firing carelessly, and endangering persons in the vicinity.

The entire city should get behind the latest move of the Fish and Game Association. A bird sanctuary will add beauty and color to the district surrounding Drumheller.—Drumheller Mail.

BEEF CONTROL PLAN

Under a new plan of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to ensure adequate supplies of beef at home, while giving beef producers the equivalent of the export price for their cattle, Canada is now divided into fifteen zones. In each zone, wholesale prices will be set by a Food Corporation, headed by the Food Administrator, Hon. Gordon Taggart. These prices will be adjusted from time to time with seasonal variations. Retail prices will be based on the laid-down prices, plus the mark-up established by the retailer for similar cuts and quality during the basic period.

All of Alberta south of the 55th parallel, excluding stations on the C.N.R. west of Bankhead, are placed in Zone 12. The above exempted stations are placed in Zone 13, which includes all the interior towns in British Columbia.

F. P. Galbraith, proprietor of the Red Deer Advocate, has been elected grand master of the Alberta Masonic lodge.

Mrs. J. W. Howe and daughter Lucille, returned to Bowden on Thursday, after spending a short holiday here, with Mrs. W. Howe.

We understand that the Turtle Mountain Playgrounds restaurant, dancing hall and pool suffered but trivially from the recent floods. Official opening will be announced very shortly.

James Boutlier, of Burmis, passed away in Calgary on Saturday after a lingering illness. James was in his forty-fifth year. The remains were brought to Blaimore by Tuesday morning's train, and interment was made in St. Anne's cemetery on Wednesday morning, following service held in the church by Rev. Dean M. A. Harrington. He was born in Cape Breton, and is survived by several brothers and sisters in Eastern Canada. Pallbearers were P. McNeil, C. Miller, J. Patterson, J. Angus MacDonald, R. Jamieson and F. Welsh.

A Growing War Effort

SOME INTERESTING figures regarding the returns to the Dominion treasury through the channels of direct taxation were recently given to the House of Commons by Finance Minister J. L. Hays. The increase to the national revenue from these taxes for the year ending May 31, 1942, was $347,200,000. Mr. Hays described this figure as "startlingly tremendous." He further stated that while this increase was due in part to an increase in the rate of taxation, an upward swing in general business conditions was also a factor. Analyzing this figure, Mr. Hays showed that personal income tax for the year ending May 31, 1942, would show an increase of $105,100,000; national defence tax $86,900,000; and excess profit tax $155,200,000.

Trend Of Business

While production of luxury goods in Canada has been widely and rapidly curtailed, there has grown up a large defence industry, which is taking up great quantities of material and providing employment for large numbers of workers. In a recent survey of business conditions in Canada, published by the Bank of Nova Scotia, it was stated that employment in industrial plants had increased thirty per cent. in the last year, and sixty-two per cent. above the levels just prior to the outbreak of the war. The same report says that there was a material increase in gross farm income during the past year. Cash income from the sale of farm products during 1941 were placed at $78,000,000, an increase of 18½ per cent. over 1940, and the highest since 1929.

Increase Of Farm Products

Since the outbreak of the war farm living costs have increased five per cent. and the cost of production has risen. Nevertheless there has been an increase in the output of agricultural products to meet the rising requirements of war time. While returns to the farmers are not as great as the gross increase suggests, there has been improvement in some branches of the agricultural industry. The production of metals and forest products also show great increases, and these figures all tell the story of an ever-expanding war effort within our Dominion, which is yearly absorbing greater quantities of our material and human resources. Now that the initiative has been seized by the United Nations on most of the fighting fronts, it is to be hoped that the offensive spirit will gather strength. It should make itself felt by the renewed determination of all Canadians to provide the money necessary for the support of the men in uniform.

THE LAST WORD

When the building of the Erie Canal was being discussed, the subject of flooding it was being argued in a Quaker business meeting of men. It was opposed by an infidel member—no less than Elias Hicks, celebrated American preacher—on the ground of its being a speculation. Among other objections he went on to say, "When the world was created, if any canals were intended they would have been made." Thereupon, a member rose up and in the intoning voice usually heard in the meetings, said, "And Jacob digged a well!" and sat down.

RATIONING AIDS HEALTH

Health tests in London show that rationing has improved rather than retarded the health of the average adult, and child. "Truth" is ascertained to the careful planning that precedes all rationing decisions. More than 10,000 evacuees are weighed and measured every three months. Similar tests are applied to children in evacuation camps. The lessons learned will be put to practical use after the war.

Nearly 5,000 miles of a wire so fine it will float in the air can be spun from a single one-pound lump of platinum.

Newspaper Statistics

35th Edition McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications Just Of Press

Canada has now 1,811 publications, of which 953 are weeklies and 107 dailies, according to the 35th edition of McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications, just off the press.

During the past year, the dailies have decreased by five and the weeklies by 31, while 20 monthlies and 23 miscellaneous publications have been added to the list. Suspension of Canada's two Japanese dailies narrows the Japanese language press in this country to one weekly, while the Chinese continue to lead among the dailies in the total of 86 foreign language publications in 16 different tongues, with four dailies of their own, two in Toronto and two in British Columbia.

"Necessary curbs on consumption and the re-directing of productive capacities to the service of the war machine have necessitated a shift in emphasis which changes the nature rather than restricts the scope of advertising," says C. T. Pearce, President of A. McKim Limited, in his foreword to the directory, which comprises 482 pages, and includes exhaustive data on markets throughout the Dominion. "Those who, with their eyes on the post-war world, take the necessary steps to maintain and increase the goodwill created by consistent advertising will find themselves in the best position to cope with circumstances when peace comes."

Cry "Send Us Smokes" Helped By Gift Of 2,000,000 Cigarettes

A total of two million cigarettes will be distributed among Canadians in land, sea and air forces now on active service overseas, as a gift from The Dodds Medicine Company Limited, Toronto, maker of Dodds' Kidney Pills.

"This is understood to be one of the largest individual gifts of Canadian-made cigarettes to the Canadian Forces on active service overseas, and distribution will be carried out through the facilities of the Overseas League, (Canada) Tobacco Fund, Toronto.

From all parts of Canada money is collected and cigarettes sent to all branches of the service overseas at the rate of 16 packages of 25 cigarettes each for $1.00. With each package goes an addressed post card with the donor's name and hundreds of thousands have been returned to Canada and the United States by grateful men of the air force, navy, army and merchant marine. ### The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In The Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

"Canadians must supply more tanks, more guns, more men, more bombers, more rifles." You have heard public speakers reel these testimonials off time and again and audiences stamp and cheer and, let us hope, dash off to buy more War Savings Stamps and Victory Bonds.

Well, so long as the audience reacts that way why should anyone worry?

And yet there is a worry there. It's the grouping together of machines and men.

It's bad psychology. It illustrates too well the Colonel Blimp type of thinking.

What right has a politician to think of men—your son or brother or father or husband or sweetheart—in the same breath as machines?

We can sweat and sacrifice and save to "supply more tanks, more guns, more bombers, more rifles." We can and we must!

But it is not our sacrifice or our sweat when the men go. That is theirs and we have no right to be smug and complacent when they volunteer no matter how close we are to them or they to us.

You'll hear the same type of speaker say, "Mrs. Blank in my constituency has given two sons to the Army."

Mrs. Blank hasn't given her sons to the Army. They weren't hers to give. Let us rather say that Mrs. Blank gave her sons the character that made them ready to offer their services, perhaps their lives, to their country.

But don't let us class them with the machines that are being built to aid its soldiers by the Individual Citizen's Army!

The men who put on their country's uniform when that country is fighting for the existence of the Christian world do it for the same reason their fathers did. There is no burning fire of patriotism in them; no inward, silent sound of Kipling's lines, no proud thought of sacrifice, no strong call of duty. They put on the uniform because they are men and men fight to protect their own and preserve their heritage.

They don't get into uniform because politicians or preachers or jingoists or Colonel Blimps tell them it's their duty—neither should we who are not permitted to wear uniform need to be "neighed up" to put our backs into backing the soldiers up.

"Not permitted to wear uniforms." But we are! We are permitted to wear uniforms of our own design and manufacture. We can wear uniforms represented by turned coats, by frayed cuffs, by fold of frills to save cloth for vital needs.

We can wear uniforms by walking to save gasoline, by abstaining from candy to save sugar, by wearing old clothes, eating plain food, by buying two War Savings Certificate stamps instead of going to a movie.

That way we can be privy to the Individual Citizen's Army—and it's a lot harder to be a good private than a good general.

That way we can supply the men in uniform with "more tanks, more guns, more bombers, more rifles."

The farmer who patches up an old hoe, the housewife who makes over an old dress, the school-boy who walks sedately past a good slide to save wear and tear on his boots (or maybe the seats of his pants) is supplying more machines to the troops. Those are the thoughtful people.

What about the thoughtless ones? To be thoughtless these days is to be unpatriotic—and to be unpatriotic these days is close to treason.

Perhaps we should drop fancy language these days, perhaps we would better understand what harm thoughtlessness can do if we were to call a sugar hoarder a traitor, the man who convales to get a double-breasted suit a traitor, the joy-rider a traitor!

What do you think?

Wanted In Country

Streets In London May Soon Have No Custer Ponies

Custer's ponies, quick-stopping animals of 12 to 14 hands, soon may be a novelty on London streets. They are in demand by country residents who have laid up their automobiles and are travelling by traps and old-fashioned gigs. Before the war the ponies sold for approximately $120. Now they bring twice that and are becoming scarce.

One horse dealer said women in particular are buying the ponies because they are easy to handle and have a lot of "horse sense."

Says Canada Is Following Policy Pay As You Go

Belmont Club, Que., (CP)—Neither domestic financial considerations nor foreign exchange problems have been allowed to obstruct the scope and character of Canada's war effort, Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, told the annual meeting of the United States Bankers Association for Foreign Trade.

Speaking to the bankers at their first meeting in Canada, Mr. Towers said Canada had decided upon a policy of "pay as you go" in conducting the war, with consequent high taxes and internal borrowings and introduction of foreign exchange control regulations. He explained the workings of the exchange regulations.

"I am not going to go into details but will only say that exchange control has worked. It has not been used to saddle any of our burdens on the other fellow. All our foreign commitments have been met. We are not accumulating any debts to embarrass us in the future. We are paying our way."

Referring to Canada's financial relationships with the United Kingdom, Mr. Towers said it had been necessary to make sure "that no lack of Canadian dollars kept the United Kingdom from buying all the things they needed to obtain in Canada." This was done by partial payments in gold early in the war, then by the Canadian government and the Canadian National Railways.

"In March parliament authorized a gift of $1,000,000,000 to the United Kingdom. While the gift is phrased in dollars, you can understand that the real meaning of the transaction is that Canada is making a contribution of guns, tanks, aircraft, other munitions of war, foodstuffs and supplies to the full extent that these are needed by other parts of the empire."

GIGANTIC PLAN

U.S. Bill Asks For $5,300,000,000 For Navy Construction

Washington, Aug. 26.—A $5,300,000,000 measure authorizing construction of approximately 500 fighting ships—a gigantic program which would come close to doubling the size of the U.S. fleet—was drafted by Chairman Vinson of the house of representatives naval committee.

Vinson said that he would introduce the bill, calling for the largest naval construction program ever authorized at one time, and that "the two-ocean navy probably would be finished in the next 24 months."

The bill would call for 500,000 tons of aircraft carriers, 500,000 tons of cruisers of both the light and heavy type, 500,000 tons of destroyers and destroyer-escort vessels, and 800 small vessels for patrol work, mine-laying and tending duty.

The new ships would be in addition to those already authorized for construction. In its official closure of strength in October of last year, the navy reported 346 fighting ships in service and 347 building.

The house appropriations committee sent to the floor a supplemental navy, marine corps and coast guard supply bill calling for $654,999,740 in direct appropriations and $1,037,500,000 in contract authorization, of which $887,500,000 was earmarked for submarine construction.

SALVAGE METAL

Illegal To Destroy Or Throw Away Any Collapsible Tubes

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board announced that used collapsible metal tubes must be delivered to a drug, cigar, general or departmental store, and that "no person may lawfully keep in possession any used collapsible metal tube longer than reasonably necessary for delivery."

The board said it is a breach of the new regulations to "destroy or throw away" any "empty collapsible metal tube which contained any substance or matter."

Stressing the importance of careful salvage, the board's announcement estimated that about 250 used tubes would supply the necessary tin solder for a Bolingbroke bomber.

Winnipeg.—A saving of more than 60 per cent in consumption of gasoline and rubber will be effected by a plan to zone milk and cream collection in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, W. H. Musgrove, chairman of the advisory board to the Manitoba Dairy Association, said.

SUGAR RATIONING

Bakers Must Keep Within The Industrial Use Of Sugar

Ottawa.—Wartime prices and trade board officials said that under revised sugar rationing regulations, confining the industrial use of sugar to 70 per cent of the quantity used in 1941, bakers are permitted to use icing on their products provided they remain within the quota allowed them.

Before the tightened sugar ration was announced recently by Donald Gordon, chairman of the prices board, bakers were able to use 80 per cent of the sugar they consumed in 1940, and, after Easter Monday of this year, were not permitted to use sugar for icing.

Under consolidated regulations for the industry the provision forbidding bakers to make use of sugar for icing has been removed, officials said. But, if icing is to be used, it must be taken from the sugar available under the 70 per cent quota.

Canadian Corps Goes Through Marching Test

Somewhere in England.—In its largest, hardest and longest battle manoeuvre, a Canadian corps has gone through a grueling 12-day endurance test which saw infantry march between 250 and 300 miles as the corps waged mimic war against a British corps over southeast England.

The infantry moved afoot without the usual transport and carried out almost incredible forced marches by day and night during this latest phase of the Canadians' attack training for operations on the continent. In many respects it was a workout in the type of fighting they would have while establishing a bridgehead in Europe before vehicles landed in numbers.

One regiment marched 56 miles in 80 hours and engaged British forces during this time in lengthy sham battles. Infantry of a whole division hoofed 40 miles in 18 hours in a marathon push after 10 days of steady marching of 20 to 25 miles a day.

Both Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Canadian corps commander, and Lt.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of Britain's southeast army, who controlled the exercises, told war correspondents they were highly pleased with the Canadians' performance.

In a message to all commanders and commanding officers in his corps, Gen. Crerar said:

"Sincere congratulations are due to all ranks in the Canadian corps on the manner in which the troops, commanders and staff have stood the very searching test of their abilities to take it and give it in exercise conditions which called for the maximum from everyone."

"Much was demanded of officers and men. All calls were answered and in consequence great results have been achieved. Having confirmed what the Canadian corps can do when required, we can face the future with great confidence."

Gen. Montgomery, who commanded the third division of the British expeditionary force and who insists more than any other general in Britain on the troops being in top physical shape, said the Canadians were "really first class" and that their soldierly is "of the highest class."

"They are at their best when the battle becomes mobile and fluid, for then their natural qualities of leadership and energy show themselves," he said.

Night after night, after long marches, small parties of Canadians stole through the British lines to eavesdrop on staff conferences, to steal maps marked with British dispositions, capture prisoners, including several senior officers, and bring back valuable information.

Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, commander-in-chief of the home forces, Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Canadian commander, and Maj.-Gen. B. W. Brown, inspector-general of Canadian establishments outside the corps, watched the exercises as observers.

RADIO BLACKOUT

Victoria.—A radio blackout of stations in the British Columbia coastal "defence area," was ordered by the western air command of the Royal Canadian Air Force. W.A.C. said the measure was precautionary only.

ATTACK ON ALASKA

New York.—The British United Press news analyst, Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, junior, says the Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor may be the preliminary to a Japanese invasion of Motive Power, Canadian Pacific Railway. The sea made the gun in their own time and paid for all material and shop costs before handing it over as a gift to the nation.

PRAISE FARM WOMEN

Government Expresses Appreciation For Aid Given In War Work

Ottawa.—The government is saying "thank you" to the farm women of Canada.

In a $50,000 advertising campaign centred in farm publications the agriculture department is expressing the government's appreciation of the part women on farms are playing in the war effort.

Women who have left the farms for jobs in industry are generally recognized as doing vital war work but the government feels women who are staying at home on the farm also deserve recognition, an official said.

Women on Canadian farms are not only looking after their families and doing normal work about the farms but in many cases have undertaken additional farm work to help relieve labor shortages.

Reports reaching the agriculture department indicate also that these women are somehow finding time to do knitting and carry on other Red Cross activities on a scale equal to that of urban women.

TIME INDEFINITE

Further Consideration Needed Before Air Agreement Is Signed

Ottawa.—A last-minute postponement of the signing of the new British Commonwealth Air Training Plan agreement has been made.

The agreement was to have been signed June 3 but it is understood some details required further consideration and the affair has been postponed indefinitely.

It is understood the broad lines of the agreement have already been settled but that some of the financial or other phases of the arrangement have not been settled.

Ready For Another Smash At Axis

Dwarfing the trucks and men standing around them a squadron of Britain's huge four-motored Stirling bombers are pictured after being serviced and bombed-up ready for the take-off on a flight over enemy territory. Among the largest bomb-carrying aircraft ever built, the Stirlings are the spearhead for Britain's aerial offensive against the Axis. They carry a tremendous cargo of bombs and have a very wide cruising radius.

Gift To The Nation

The 100th naval gun produced at the Canadian Pacific's Ogden Shops, Calgary, and presented to the nation. The five men nearest the gun, principals in the presentation ceremony are: R. Alderman, shopmen's representative; Brigadier F. M. W. Harvey, V.C., Officer Commanding Military District No. 13; J. L. Gubbins, works manager at Ogden; W. A. Mather, vice-president Western Lumber, Canadian Pacific Railway; and H. B. Brown, Chief of Motive Power, Canadian Pacific Railway. The sea made the gun in their own time and paid for all material and shop costs before handing it over as a gift to the nation.

KEPT 'EM FRYING

Smiling at you from behind his desk in the war department at Washington is Brigadier-General James H. Doolittle, the man who led the flight of U.S. army bombers in the raid on Tokyo and other Japanese cities. It is not improbable that Gen. Doolittle and his merry men may make another foray from "the U.S. air base at Shangri-la" to give the Nips an encore and to keep 'em frying.

Washington.—Two U.S. merchant vessels, one medium-sized and the other small, have been torpedoed in the Caribbean area.

FOR CIVILIAN USE

Synthetic Rubber Not Available Until 1945 Says Noted Chemist

Hamilton.—A noted American chemist predicts that there will be no new rubber for civilian use until 1945 at the earliest.

He is Dr. H. I. Cramer of Philadelphia, who told the annual convention of the Canadian Chemical Association that another two years of war will see the synthetic rubber industry firmly entrenched. He estimates that the United Nations have a rubber stockpile of 800,000 tons, and that the annual production of plantations and rubber trees in Allied territories is around 170,000 tons.

Audacious Raids Made By British Troops In Libya

With British Forces In Libya.—One of the most daring operations ever attempted is operated by a band of audacious British volunteers who slip through the enemy's back door in ordinary trucks to find out what he is doing.

Like the scorpion, which is their emblem, they carry a dangerous sting for their enemy. Sometimes they shoot up an enemy post before they return, or bring back some prisoners with them.

Always they are working hundreds of miles behind hostile lines with no hope of support from their own forces if something goes wrong. They have no secret weapons, no disguises. They wear regular uniforms and ride in trucks—not even armor-plated.

Their weapons are speed, surprise, camouflage and firing power. They were organized in July, 1940, after Italy's entrance into the war made it imperative to know what was going on in Libya.

They consider it a "poor show" to talk much about their work, which they call "stunts," but this is one hair-raiser:

A long-range patrol of 20 men came in by the usual desert back door to try shoot up an Axis encampment and bag some prisoners. They drove boldly down the main Axis highway in Libya and found, when they arrived, that they were 20 against 800.

The headlights of an Axis motor convoy which just had arrived brightly lit the camp's central square. Germans and Italians sat around, smoking and eating.

For four minutes, the two groups stared at each other, the enemy showed only mild curiosity. Then one of the Britons was overheard speaking in English and the first shot rang out.

A roaring gunfight lasted 25 minutes, sometimes with the men blazing away no farther than each other than 20 yards. Then the British volunteers pulled out. They had captured two prisoners, killed many of the enemy and destroyed some trucks. The patrol suffered no losses, not even a wounded man.

"It was not so difficult as you might think," said the leader, who was given the Military Cross for the exploit. "Jerry didn't expect us there."

War in Skies Being Won By Score Of 2 To 1

London.—In the matter of plane losses, the R.A.F. reports it's winning the war in the skies by a score of two to one.

Two Axis planes downed for every British plane lost—that is the tally in the latest air ministry tabulation. The air ministry figures are: 8,000 British planes lost; 10,045 German and Italian planes destroyed. That includes all the European and Middle Eastern fronts for the war, so far.

The air ministry also figures that Germany's more than 1,200 Japanese planes have been shot down by Allies forces to date. The Allied losses are not given.

In the three big rounds on Cologne and Essen, say the British, they dropped far more bombs than the Germans ever showered on Britain during a similar period.

Germany's high point was the month of November, 1940, when 6,700 tons of bombs fell on Britain. But in four nights, the R.A.F. poured 7,000 tons of bombs on France and Germany.

As for the Far East, the air ministry says more than 1,200 Japanese planes have been shot down by Allies forces to date. The Allied losses are not given.

MAY RATION COAL

Public Advised To Get Full Supply In Early

Toronto.—Coal may be rationed both in Canada and the United States this winter, J. McG. Stewart, federal coal administrator for Canada, told the convention of the Canadian Retail Coal Association.

"The rationing of coal goes into effect in the United States as a result of transportation conditions, it will surely be rationed here, almost as a certainty," Mr. Stewart said. "We have been trying to arouse the public and persuade them to get in their fuel supply early."

"In that case, the form of rationing here would be practically parallel to the plan adopted in the United States," he said. "But in any event we will let the public know in lots of time. There won't be any case of coal rationing being announced some Tuesday and effective the next day."

Mr. Stewart told the convention that the basis of rationing "fears" is the expected pinch in transportation facilities this autumn.

"Summer traffic" on railroads always is less than winter traffic and during this winter there will be even heavier demands on transportation facilities," he said. "September first or possibly Sept. 15 is our deadline for coal transportation because then there will be the wheat harvest to transport as well as war materials."

GOES TO BRITAIN

Leonard Brockington Accedes To Request Of British Government

Ottawa.—Leonard W. Brockington, K.C., of Ottawa, has acceded to a request of the British government that he go to the United Kingdom to act as adviser on war affairs to Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, it was announced.

In addition to his duties as adviser, Mr. Brockington will be engaged in speaking and writing and will do considerable broadcasting in and from Britain. He will leave for overseas shortly.

KEEPING OUR BALANCE

The need for the maintenance of music and the arts, which in peace time are recognized as the hallmarks of a nation's culture, is even more essential in time of war and emotional disturbances.

It is necessary, so that we may keep our mental balance, despite all the terrible happenings which are occurring every day and which tend to make us lose the real perspective.

Carl Engel wrote: "Of all the arts, music comes nearest to possessing that inexplicable and indefinable power of casting over us a spell. It carries us away, it lifts us out of ourselves. Music will hold us still and musing, or stir us into irresistible motion. It can lighten our burdens, or weigh our hearts with the load of bitter-sweet sorrow."

This great power of music should be used to its fullest extent to help us meet the new problems, difficulties, perplexities, doubts and fears with which we are daily beset.

Music has undergone a great change the past few years; and there has recently come a vitalising surge of appreciation and demand for the better kinds of music that has had far-reaching effects on the country's entire musical structure.

Many agencies have been responsible for this growth in appreciation. Our symphony orchestras, the work in the schools, radio programmes (although there is still room for improvement here), the high standard of music teaching which is developing, and, particularly in Western Canada, the musical festival movement.

The work the festival movement is doing in the smaller communities was splendidly illustrated to the writer when adjudicating a festival in the Crows' Nest Pass recently.

In a community which comprises a number of small towns on the border of British Columbia and Alberta, we found a standard of performance which would be a credit to any of the great city centres.

This festival was held at Blairmore, and competitors came from Fernie, Coleman, Hillcrest, Bellevue, Cranbrook, Kimberley and Macleod. Some 112 classes were included in the syllabus, covering senior choir, school choirs, vocal solos (adult and junior), pianoforte, violin, cello, orchestra, bands and various instrumental solos.

The work was of an average level of performance and many outstanding examples of fine playing were given in the violin, pianoforte and school choir classes. The excellent results are greatly due to the interest of school boards, music supervisors and the competent teachers of music.

The competitions are managed by an enthusiastic committee of music lovers from the various towns in the district, and is one of the best organized festivals with which it has been our privilege to have been associated. —Stanley Bligh, in Vancouver Sun.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, June 12.—Premier Aberhart delivered his weekly oration to the faithful in the Social Credit headquarters, Edmonton, on June 8th, last, and opened with the statement that the Dominion Government was showing its "economic foolishness" in paying interest on bank loans after giving banks the right to create the credit extended to the government.

Mr. Aberhart did not say anything about the "economic foolishness" of himself and his Social Credit party. He quoted a statement of Graham Towers, head of the Bank of Canada, in which that gentleman was reported to have admitted to the Canadian Banking committee of parliament, during evidence before it, that "what was physically possible should be financially possible."

That partial quotation of Mr. Towers' evidence is one of the premier's pet quotations. There are so few to be taken from any reputable financier or economist that Mr. Aberhart fastens on those he can get like a robin on a worm. But, not only Mr. Towers, but any other sane man would agree with the axiom, "what is physically possible, should be economically possible," but the fact still remains that it isn't always so.

It is physically possible for every road-riding tram in the Dominion to be given an automobile to ride in, but it isn't economically possible, though the tramps say, "it should be!" It is physically possible for the province of Alberta to become a sovereign state, or a crown colony, but it certainly isn't economically possible.

But the Premier never turns his thoughts round and looks at them from the other side. Take for instance, his thoughts and convictions about Social Credit, where he would claim it is physically possible. Well, to look at it on the other side it is found that it isn't even physically possible, let alone being economically possible.

There are approximately 400,000 citizens in Alberta who are 21 years old and over. Social Credit promises to give each of these $25 basic dividend and over. Of course, Premier Aberhart has denied many times with anger that he ever promised that sum, but thousands of those who voted him into power in 1935 expected him to keep that promise just the same.

But, to continue with Social Credit being physically impossible, to service 400,000 persons with $25 dividends would cost the province $120,000,000, the total revenue of the province hasn't yet risen to $50,000,000 a year, despite all the increases in taxation the citizens have had to suffer at the hands of William Aberhart and his government.

Of course there is some idea in the back of the premier's head about the dividend being the "unearned increment" of the people, and in some way it is connected mysteriously with the "velocity of circulation." And that theory was exploded as a fallacy by the Alberta government's experiment in "prosperity certificates."

The Social Crediters won't admit it, but that experiment in the circulation of unearned increment, or the method of making a dollar buy ten dollars worth of goods while on its journey, was the biggest proof yet given that the Aberhart theories about economics and monetary reform are nothing but the vapors of a mind searching for something he can't describe.

Someone said Social Credit was like a blind man in a dark room, searching for a black cat that wasn't there! Well, that's how much Social Credit is physically possible, however desirable.

How Premier Aberhart and his half-baked economists are going to find it possible, physically, to pay $120,000,000 in dividends from the possible revenues of a province not amounting to $50,000,000 (We give this figure, though it is far in excess of the actual) is one of the world's greatest mysteries; but William Aberhart says it can be done, and he is a prophet!

Certainly it might be physically possible, but by all the rules of sense and reason, and by all the experience of kings and commons, governments and social leagues, it isn't economically possible.

The old fable about the frog desiring to be as big as a bull has nothing on the desire to establish a Social Credit that springs in the capacious bosom of William Aberhart, and by the time he has established his inflation system, for that's what it really is, the final result will be similar—a big general bust up! That is surely possible!

MUST LEND OR LOSE

In Nasland every citizen is told what he must do under penalty of death. In a free land the people act through their elected representatives and impose upon themselves the restrictions that are necessary to the welfare of all. But in many particulars—even in time of war—the citizen is not constrained by any force except his own conscience and sense of duty.

We all know that victory must be paid for—not only with blood and suffering, but with money. Those who pay only with money have the easy part. Are we paying our share? Or are we pretending to be patriots, and selfishly depending on others to pay for us as we depend on others to fight for us?

We aren't really asked to give anything, but only to lend it. If we don't the government must tax us to get the money and we'll never see it again.

Every one of us can lend a little every week or month. It may take pinching, but a little sacrifice of comforts is easier to endure than the sacrifice of freedom. We'll lose everything if the tyrannical Axis moves in.

THE GLAMOUR BOYS

The "Aircrew" of the Royal Canadian Air Force, that is the Pilot, Observer, Wireless Operator Air Gunner and Straight Air Gunner, are known as the "Glamour Boys" of the Air Force. They undoubtedly earn this title through the thrilling and dangerous nature of their duties. However, little publicity attends the daily deeds of the "ground crews," and yet they are an indispensable unit of the force. The pilot trusts the men who service his aircraft. He is well aware that his life and the lives of his crew depend upon the skill and knowledge of the mechanic, the armorer, the electrician, the wireless mechanic, the instrument maker and many others.

A SAD VICTIM

A young matron of our acquaintance, taking first aid training, had reached the resuscitation stage. One evening recently, returning from a Red Cross meeting, she observed a man on a darkened side street sprawled face downward. "Aha," thought the matron, "Providence has sent me hither to minister to this poor unfortunate." Parking her car nearby, she rushed over and began giving the treatment for resuscitation. Presently the man stirred, looked up and spoke with great difficulty: "Lady, I don't know what you're up to, but I wish you'd quit tickling me. I'm holding a lantern for a guy working down in this manhole."

OF CANADA

ARMY WEEK, JUNE 29
TO JULY 5, 1942

There is a growing public feeling that the people of Canada have been asked to finance the War Effort, to conserve necessary war materials, and to step up production in war industry; but that very little has been done to honor the Canadian soldier.

Possibly due largely to the fact that the Canadian Army has not seen a great deal of action in this war, many have forgotten the all-important function which the army must perform before the war can be brought to a successful conclusion. There is no doubt of the fact that the Navy must continue its splendid work of protecting the sea lanes and conveying food, supplies and troops to the theatres of war, and that the Air Force must continue to harass and observe the operations of the enemy. The time is rapidly approaching when we must attack the enemy and occupy those lands necessary to our victory.

For several months the general public has made repeated and insistent demands for an opportunity to see more of the Canadian Army, and to express its appreciation of the sacrifices made by the men who have volunteered to give their lives, if necessary, as their contribution to Canada's War Effort.

In answer to this public demand, and in order that the people of Canada may have an opportunity of expressing their pride in the Canadian Army, the period from June 29th to July 5th, 1942, has been designated "Army Week."

As Army Week was initiated by the general public, and as the general theme of Army Week is to be "Honor our Canadian Army," it is the feeling of the Department of National Defence that this movement should remain a spontaneous public demonstration, and that individual citizens, industrial firms and various Canadian organizations should be allowed to continue the promotion of this movement by the methods which they consider the most effective, in order that the entire programme may have the greatest possible amount of variety, and may suitably express the feelings of the Canadian public towards the Army.

Consistent with training, the Army will naturally do everything possible to co-operate with the people of Canada in making this week not only a demonstration of the public's respect and admiration for men in the armed forces, but a militant demonstration of the loyalty of the Canadian people, and of their fixed desire to bring this conflict to a successful conclusion.

In order to co-ordinate the efforts of all the groups who will be interested in Army Week, a National Executive Committee for Army Week has been organized in Ottawa with headquarters in Laurentian Building. Any specific information regarding Army Week may be secured from this National Executive Committee, or from the executive sub-committees which will be set up in each military district.

Information regarding the local executive committees for Army Week may be secured by contacting the district headquarters of your local military district. The national executive committee for Army Week is, wherever possible, approaching the heads of large business organizations and associations for support.

The Canadian Legion has volunteered to circulate all of its branches and enlist their whole hearted support of this movement, asking that each individual post co-operate with the executive committee in its own military district.

A representative of the national executive committee for Army Week will visit all military districts to explain in detail to the district committees the extent of the national effort, and assist in the preparations of the district program in order to gain a unified effort across Canada.

The major railroad companies have under discussion ways and means by which they can further this cause, and have offered to prepare suitable posters for display throughout the country. The Canadian Daily Newspaper Association are strong in the belief that the observance of Army Week is of national importance, and promised this movement the full support of the daily papers throughout Canada. They will circulate all daily papers with details of the plan.

A Service Emblem has been approved, and it is anticipated that it will be available to the public through regular retail channels well in advance of Army Week, so that all families having immediate relatives in the service will be able to display their service flag during this period.

Plans are now under way for suitable parades, army demonstrations and visits to military encampments during this period.

As the national executive committee for Army Week was only appointed on the 30th of April, time has not as yet permitted contact being made with a great many other extremely important organizations and associations throughout Canada, but this situation is being rectified as quickly as possible. It is the intention of the national executive committee to establish contact in the near future with such important bodies as the Canadian National Newspapers and Periodicals Association, the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, banks, insurance companies and financial houses, the provincial and municipal governments, Retail Merchants Association, service clubs and organizations, churches, the Canadian Restaurant Association, and as many other organizations as possible who might be interested in making Army Week an outstanding success.

It will be realized that, due to the size of Canada, and the vast differences in local conditions in the various provinces, a completely national programme for this week would not be feasible; but attempts have been made to devote various days during this period to certain specialized activities of a national nature. It is fully realized that this national programme will have to be augmented, and in some instances changed in order to meet local conditions.

SAVE GASOLINE BY COASTING METHODS

Under wartime conditions when conservation of gasoline is essential, attention is being drawn to the economies that can be effected through coasting.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association point out that, according to an estimate of the Industrial Acceptance Corporation, coasting is saving Australian motorists as much as 20 per cent, and even more, in gasoline consumption.

Even without free wheeling and such devices, coasting resorted to judiciously is relatively safe and saves considerable gasoline. Long, gentle grades, free of sharp turns and intersections, are ideal coasting courses.

For the motorist not familiar with the procedure, the following suggestions may be of value: Just before starting a safe coasting descent, the clutch should be disengaged, and the ignition shut off simultaneously. The gear set lever may then be moved to the neutral position and the clutch permitted to engage.

An eye should be kept on the speedometer to make sure that the car does not accelerate unduly—a danger because the "dead" engine does not, of course, provide the accustomed audible warning. When the road becomes level and the car decelerates to approximately 20 miles per hour, the engine should be started, the clutch disengaged, the gear-set lever nursed back into high, and the clutch then gently re-engaged, the engine, of course, being rev'd up to approximately the speed at which it would be operating if driving the car at the velocity at which it is coasting.

— "V" —
SAVING ON WIRE FENCES

Because a single-strand electrically-charged wire on light stakes round a square mile of pasture gives a saving of 84,460 feet of barbed-wire, weighing 3,500 pounds, over an ordinary five-strand barbed-wire fence, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has arranged a priority for manufacturers of electric controllers, for use on such fences.

To give a sharp, harmless shock to any animal that touches the wire, each enclosure must have a controller—a mechanical device that operates a condenser coil from a six-volt dry battery. Over 25,000 electric fences were built in Canada last year, and with the heavy demand for cattle and hogs, more will be needed this year. The savings in barbed wire in fencing a square mile of pasture gives enough to snare many a German or a Jap, or provides steel enough to make 100 Bren guns. There is a saving too on the number and strength of the posts required.

Nothing To Give

Hitler Cannot Promise Anything For Use Of Bulgaria's Army

W. K. Kelsey, in the Detroit News, says reports of a pending revolution in Bulgaria are probably premature. King Boris still has cards to play in the game with Hitler. Certainly Hitler would like to use the Bulgarian army; but what can he promise Bulgaria in return? If he offers her an outlet to the Aegean, through Greece, he offends the Turks mightily and it is to his present interest to keep Turkey neutral at least, and gain her friendship if possible. If he offers her Rumanian land, he makes the Rumanians, already fighting mad at Hungary, angrier still. He can bring much economic pressure to Bulgaria, as she is a self-supporting agricultural country. So what is there to use as bait for Boris? If the King sits tight, he sits pretty. The report of trouble seems to be due to rumors that Boris is not sitting tight; but it will prove remarkable if he sells himself for nothing.

Canada's New Stamps

Series Is To Include Sixteen Cent Special Air Delivery

Canada's new issue for postage stamps, now in preparation for release on July 1, will consist of 14 values, and will entirely replace the present series of postage stamps. One new stamp is being added, a 16 cents value to cover air mail and special delivery charges. It will be violet-blue in color and will depict a Trans-Canada airplane.

All of the stamps in the forthcoming issue will be of a patriotic nature, several depicting Canada's war effort. The one cent green will carry a portrait of King George VI. in uniform; the two cent brown, three cent red, and five cent blue will also have new portraits of King George VI.; the four cent value will be grey in color; instead of yellow, and will have a picture of Canadian grain elevators as its central design; the eight cent value will be sepia, and will have a typical Canadian farm scene as its central motif. The ten cent value will be brown, showing the Dominion parliament buildings; the 13 cent value will be dark green and will feature a 'Ram' tank; the 20 cent value will be brown and will feature a Canadian corvette; the 50 cent value will be violet, showing a Canadian munitions plant; the one dollar value will be blue and will have a Canadian destroyer as its central design. The next six cent airmail will be blue and will depict a phase of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan; the new ten cent special delivery will be green and will depict the Canadian coat-of-arms with flags. None of the new stamps will be colored.

Much More Effective

Rocket Bombs Being Used By Russians Against Tanks

The magazine "Aeroplane" said the Russians are using "rocket bombs" which are far more effective against tanks than the new ten cent special delivery will be green and will depict the Canadian coat-of-arms with flags. None of the new stamps will be colored.

The publication which sometimes reflects the views of Britain's leading aircraft planners said "dive bombing has had its day" and called the rocket bomb "possibly the most important tactical advance in air weapons" since the war began.

The rocket bomb, it explained, is slung on the guide rail under either the Hurricane's or the Stormovik's wing. When the target is sighted an electrical firing button is pressed and the bomb is projected by a rocket apparatus in its tail.

The effect, said "Aeroplane," is "much the same as that of a very large low velocity cannon ball."

The advantage of these bombs, the magazine said, lies in their great hitting power and accuracy compared with dive bombing or low level attacks.

It added that there are disadvantages in the fact that the rocket apparatus obviously reduces the weight of the charge in the bomb and, compared with a fighter armed with a big cannon, relatively few projectiles can be carried.

Air Cadet League

Expected To Expand To Force Of 50,000 In Next Year

Expansion of Canada's air cadet organization to a force of 50,000 "teen-aged youths in the next year was forecast by Group Capt. D. E. Hume, national director of the Air Cadet League of Canada, on the league's first anniversary.

Group Capt. Hume said his prediction was based on air cadet progress during the league's first year, when more than 15,000 boys enrolled in 135 squadrons are divided by provinces as follows: Ontario, 33; Quebec, 32; Saskatchewan, 21; Alberta, 21; British Columbia, 14; Nova Scotia, 7; Manitoba, 4; Prince Edward Island, 2, and New Brunswick, 1.

Paratroop Leader Awarded Bar To Distinguished Service Cross

Wing Cmdr. Percy Pickard, tall blond pipe-smoking pilot who led the paratroop raid on Bruneval in February, was awarded the Bar to the Distinguished Service Cross.

The citation said that "by his courage, self-sacrifice and devotion to duty he set an example which, although attained by few, is admired by all."

At the time of the Bruneval raid Pickard commanded a Whitley squadron which included a number of Canadians, whom he called "very good airmen."

The paratroops led by Pickard destroyed a German radio aircraft location unit at Bruneval, 12 miles north of Havre. The paratroops fought their way to the beaches and returned across the Channel on light craft escorted by warships and planes. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans and some prisoners taken. British casualties were light.

Taking Large Part

Women Are Doing Splendid Work On Railways In Britain

Moving "sprinklers" than the men they supplemented or had released for service with the fighting forces, women railway porters, in their dark blue trousers, twill jackets and peaked caps, made a distinct impression on a male observer who visited a vast goods yard (freight-yard) to see how Britain's railways are meeting the transport needs of war.

The railways have adapted themselves to deal with the traffic of an army larger than Britain has ever known. They are carrying enormously increased quantities of iron ore, pig iron, coal and limestone necessary for Britain's steel production. They are engaged in the enormous traffic involved in the sending of munitions abroad.

And in this great effort of the railways women are taking a large part.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 14

SUNDAY, THE RISEN CHRIST AND HIS DISCIPLES

Golden text: Ye are witnesses of these things. Luke 24:48. Lesson: Luke 24:1-48. Devotional reading: Psalm 16:5-11.

Explanations and Comments

The Empty Tomb Seen By Three Disciples, Luke 24:1-13.

The Interview Reported to the Disciples, Luke 24:13-35. Hastening back to Emmaus and rushing into the upper room where the eleven disciples were wondering over the report that Jesus had appeared to Peter, the two excited men told of their amazing conversation with the risen Christ. They had met Him on the road to Emmaus as a stranger, he had walked along the way with them as a comrade, he had talked with them as a teacher, but not until they were seated at the table as friends had they suddenly been convinced as to his identity. He had taken the place of host, and it was while he was breaking the bread to give it to them that they recognized him and then he had suddenly disappeared.

The Sudden Appearance of Christ Himself, Luke 24:36-43. "Peace be unto you," thus Christ greeted them as he suddenly appeared in their midst. Notwithstanding what they had just heard, they were terrified, for they supposed they beheld a spirit. "Why are ye troubled?" he asked, and "wherefore do questions arise in your heart?" Then to reassure them, to convince them that he was not a disembodied spirit, he bade them see and touch his hands and his feet. "A spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye behold me having," he told them. And while they still disbelieved for joy—a curious yet real state of mind—he asked for something to eat, and when they gave him a piece of broiled fish, he ate before them.

Parting Words, Luke 24:44-49. Luke's narrative reads as if all these farewell words of Jesus were spoken at that evening meeting with the 11, but in Acts 1:3 Luke tells us that Christ "showed himself alive after his passion by many proofs, appearing unto them by the space of 40 days, and speaking the things concerning the Kingdom of God." Read Mt. 28:16-20; Mk. 16:14-18; Jn. 20:24 to 21:23.

In one Canadian city, Montreal, 10,000 women are attending the lecture course of the "Food for Health"—Health for Victory" nutrition campaign. Six thousand of the women are French-Canadian, the remainder are English. The lectures run for four weeks. Trained dietitians are giving the time freely.

The importance of milk, cheese, fruit and vegetables in the daily diet provided the theme of this week's lecture. Milk was described as the most important food in our diet—a food for which no other single substitute could be found.

Canadians do not eat enough cheese, it was stated. The average yearly consumption is between only three and four pounds and it should be about ten pounds. At present with the vast export of cheese to Britain—212 million pounds were shipped over last year—there is a scarcity of cheese in the country but once the world gets back to normal it is hoped that more cheese would be eaten here.

The popular idea that cheese is indigestible was cleared up by the lecturers. Cheese is a highly concentrated food and should therefore not be eaten as such, but as a part of the meal. For instance, it might be used once a week as a substitute for meat or fish. Another good way to work it into the diet would be to round out a meal in which the main course was a salad.

As little cooking as possible was advocated as the secret of good vegetable cookery, also as little water as possible. And the cooking water should be kept and used as a vegetable juice drink or in soups and sauces. The reason for this is that some of the valuable vitamins and minerals dissolve out into the water during cooking.

The time-honored custom of preparing vegetables ahead for cooking and leaving them soaking in cold water was denounced by the lecturers as a way of getting rid of vitamins. If prepared ahead vegetables should be put in a covered dish without water—in the ice box until it was time to cook them. Canned and frozen vegetables had as high a vitamin content as fresh ones, it was stated, unless the frozen ones came straight from the garden to the stove. Fruit of some sort, fresh, canned, or dried, should form part of each day's diet and children should be given dried fruit instead of candy. Everyone should have two ounces of orange juice (a quarter of a measuring cup) or four ounces of tomato juice a day.
